

The Carmel Pine Cone

Editorial Column

We're attending the first P.T.A. meeting of the year Tuesday afternoon, 3:30 o'clock in Sunset Cafeteria. Superintendent Stuart Mitchell and Principal Arthur Hull are going to preside at the tea table. This strikes us as a highly original idea and an innovation that should be encouraged. Besides, with them in charge, we'll get an extra cookie. * * *

All of a sudden Carmel breaks out in a rash of theatres-in-the-round, a business in which the actors perform in the middle of the audience, where the bonfire would be if it were a football rally. At the present count, there are three groups planning to put on theatres-in-the-round plays: a new group, Actors' Theatre, which was organized especially to stage such productions; the Forest Theatre Guild, and now Edward Kuster announces that he, too, will be producing plays in theatre-in-the-round by Thanksgiving under the stage of the new playhouse, that they are going to start building shortly.

Actors' Theatre, organized some weeks ago, seems to have the jump on the others at the moment. They have arranged for a place to put on their shows, the Mission Ranch Banquet hall, and are ready to start casting for their first production, The Taming of the Shrew.

And we feared all the bustling community theatre activities of the summer would fade away after Labor Day! This promises to be fun, and all three groups should succeed nicely with their projects. Since theatre-in-the-round usually limits seat sales for any one performance to 100, there will be plenty of audience to go around. * * *

Carmel police department is very pleased with itself. It now has two telephones, 7-6403 has been added to 7-6432. They still have only one man to answer them, but he says he's got two ears, hasn't he? * * *

Mrs. Gladys Keplinger, the planning commission member who has been in a high boil for two years about the trash and litter that adorns our streets, took us for a ride in her jeep the other day up one side of Ocean Avenue and down the other, directing our attention to the parkway in the middle. It was evidently irrigation day, when the sad geraniums which have such a displaced-population look under the pines, get their periodic watering. The city employee who had been assigned the job had created a network of small ditches up and down the parkway and was leaning contentedly on his hoe while the water ran from the hose along the ditchies. What disturbed Mrs. Keplinger was the snow storm of candy wrappers, old post cards, and miscellaneous litter that covered the ground.

"While the water is running, why can't he pick up the papers?" she fumed. "He's actually made ditches through and around the trash and there he stands. How

First Step Taken To Put Sales Tax Up To The Voters

The Citizens Committee Against The Sales Tax takes their first step to put the Carmel city sales and use tax on the ballot for repeal with legal publication in this issue of The Pine Cone (page 8) of a notice of intention to circulate an initiative petition. The legal notice contains a statement of their reasons for undertaking this action, and is recommended reading for every Carmel voter, whether or not he is opposed to the sales tax.

Within ten days after publication of the notice of intention, an affidavit of publication must be filed with the city clerk. Twenty-one days after publication, the committee may begin to circulate its petition. Signatures of ten percent of the registered voters of the city must be obtained to get the tax on the ballot at the next election. Fifteen percent makes it mandatory for the city to call a special election. Fifteen percent is the goal of the committee.

Pacific Grove Citizens Committee against the sales tax has undertaken similar action with the passage Wednesday night, over the protest of the committee representative, of sales and use tax ordinances that are twins to those enacted by Monterey and Carmel.

Carmel, California,
Sept. 6, 1951.
Dear Wilma,

My concern over the sales tax and budget has prompted the question, "What will you get out of it?" Let me make my position clear.

I have no axe to grind. I own my home, I own my business, and I operate my business under a business license. I am also a consumer. My main concern is not how to shift the tax burden onto someone else, but how to keep the burden down. Whichever way taxes go I will have to pay my share.

I have no personal fight with the council or the individual members. In other matters, notably the Carmel River Beach, the Council

"Why Can't We Accept Ourselves As Philistines And Stop Protesting Our Discriminating Taste And Appetite?"

By NOEL SULLIVAN

It is a truism to say that Carmel claims to be a community of artists. In the idiom of a highpercentage of the residents, they all "love music," and occasionally one even hears it implied that there is a dearth of opportunity to indulge themselves in the aesthetic delights they so desire. The Sunday afternoon, however, at Sunset Auditorium, when the Monterey County Symphony Association competence to attempt a critical appraisal of Gerhart Muench, nor of his program, I only know that he informed with new wonders the works with which I was already acquainted, and the masterpieces with which I was unfamiliar were so clearly and persuasively played that I came away conscious of, to me, a freshly discovered treasure.

The real reason for writing these few words is to stress to residents of the Monterey Peninsula the need to be honest. All of us either love, hate, or are indifferent—in varying degrees. These classifications include every experience, and if we are indifferent to music (as the small audience which attended the Muench recital would indicate), why can't we just admit it, accept ourselves as Philistines who fight shy of aesthetic pleasure in this particular field, and stop protesting our discriminating taste and appetite?

Ironically, however, there will probably be a sold-out house for Artur Rubinstein, when the Carmel Music Society presents him next year, and though his stature in the musical world is, even by sophisticates, unchallenged, he is an artist with a restricted repertoire of "sure-fire" compositions, but one who has the support of glamorous publicity and can always, anywhere, claim a large fee and fill an auditorium with cheering enthusiasts. It is obvious that

School Bells On Monday For Carmel Grown-ups; Many New Classes Offered

Carmel adults return to school Monday with the opening of the Evening School fall term. To the new arrival in Carmel the foregoing statement seems a little broad but to those of us who are familiar with our evening school and the number of adults attending, it sounds like a statement of fact.

In addition to the classes listed on page 14 of the Pine Cone, a World Affairs forum will be announced later.

Two new teachers have been added to the evening school. Mrs. William Gargiulo has just completed a very successful class in Home Nursing. She is especially well qualified to teach this class as she is a registered nurse, a housewife and mother, and has had years of experience in volunteer work. As enrollment in Home Nursing is limited a pre-registration is being taken for the next class.

Mr. Robert Muller, the new librarian and social studies teacher at Carmel High School, will instruct the class in Driver Training. This class also must be limited and pre-registration is necessary.

Three new classes are being offered by teachers with whom we are familiar. Angie Machado is presenting for the first time a class in Musical Awareness. It will be given in her new studio which was constructed to be as near acoustically perfect as possible. Her group will not only study and listen to fine music, but will study the history and background of composers.

Carmel P.T.A. is sponsoring the Mothers' Choral Singers under the direction of Mr. John Farr, who also instructs the Peninsula Male Chorus. If you like to sing, you need not be a mother nor a P.T.A. member to join the Mothers' Chorus.

Beginning Band, with Arthur Holman as instructor, gives an opportunity to fill that desire you have always had to blow a horn (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Here Are The Rules For Parking Around The New Post Office

If you've been looking forward to driving down town bright and early October 1, when the new post office opens, and having a gay old-time participating in a traffic jam, you're going to be disappointed. The city council has beaten you to the punch. They got the traffic situation all lined up around the new post office Wednesday night at their council meeting.

And here's the way it will be: Two-way traffic everywhere, including the street that used to be one-way in front of the old post office.

No parking anywhere in the short block on Fifth between Dolores and San Carlos, where the new post office will have its front entrance.

Forty-minute parking on both sides of the street on Dolores in the old post office block and one hour parking on Dolores Street between Fourth and Fifth.

The council was guided in formulating these regulations by a report of a study made by Andrew Del Monte and the recommendations of Chief of Police Clyde Klausmann.

THIS IS IT AT EMPORIUM

The Emporium, in San Francisco, has invited the producers of This Is It, to present a performance of their original musical, that made such a hit last week end in the Forest Theatre here.

The show is scheduled for October 1, 7:30, Under the Dome.

RECORD FOOTBALL TURNOUT AT CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL

Seventy boys checked out suits at Carmel High School last Tuesday afternoon, establishing a new record for opening day grid aspirants. There was great variation in the sizes of the football candidates, ranging from Pete Brickey's 87 pounds to the hefty 217 pounds sported by Bob Lemmon, a transfer from Alaska. After three days of conditioning and fundamentals, the squad still retained an enthusiasm for the sport and is looking forward to the scrimmage sessions which start next week. Carmel's coaching staff of Don Craig, Allan Aldwell, and George Mosolf was augmented by Lew McCreery, former Padre star fullback, who helped crack the whip throughout the conditioning drills. A glance down the roster of the 1951 Padre labels the squad as green, willing, enthusiastic, and promising. Much-needed speed was added to the Padre attack when Gene McFarland, CCAL sprint king, decided to try the grid sport this season. Teamed with the two brilliant halfbacks, Bob Updike and Henry Overin, the white-thatched McFarland could open up any defense with his blinding speed around the flanks. Welcome transfers from other schools are Bob Lemmon (Alaska), George Kastner (Germany), Bob McIntire (Monterey), Jim Pierson (Oklahoma), Dave Keppler (Monterey), and Warren Masten (Kiski Prep).

Varsity players digging in preparatory to the invasion of Arroyo Grande on September 22 are ends, Craig Moore, Jerry Colman, Myron Branson, Art Schurman, and Allen Knight; tackles, Arleigh Jones, Mike McPherson, Wes Wiley, John Billman, Pete Newell, and Bob Lemmon; guards, Said Meheen, Gerald McDonald, Denny Johnson, Sam Robison, and Bradley Dixon; centers, Don Canham and Skipper Lloyd; quarterbacks, Stewart Emery, Bob Laugenour, George Kastner, and Mike Ricketts; halfbacks, Paul Ricketson, Bob Updike, Ron Wolverton, and Henry Overin; fullbacks, Pablo Palick, Don Leidig, and Gene McFarland.

PREP GRID ROUNDUP

Work has begun in earnest for all the Coast Counties Athletic League high schools and each school is confident that the football championship will rest in its own trophy case. In the A division of the CCAL, the big Salinas Hi eleven seems to have the edge over the entries from Santa Cruz, Watsonville, and Monterey. With over a thousand boys to choose from, the Cowboys are deep in all positions and have size and speed aplenty. Tony Teresa, a swivel-hipped halfback, is the big offensive noise for the Cowboys and, off his 1950 showing, could lead Salinas to the flag. Watsonville, 1950 champions, lost heavily via the graduation route and face a rebuilding job. However, Emmett Geisert, dean of the CCAL coaches, has a high-powered football organization at the Wildcat institution and will be tough to beat. Loss of Roland Brooks, All-Northern California halfback, takes a lot of sting out of the Watsonville running attack and will make life less miserable for the rival schools. Over at Santa Cruz, the Cardinals are banking on a trio of extra speedy backs to carry the offensive burden. Loaded with backs but short on line talent, the Cardinals will have to score plenty of touchdowns to wade off the other coastal clubs. Coach Clint Purcell of the Monterey Toreadores hints that this will be his best team since taking over at the hilltop institution. Not replete with outstanding stars, the 1951 Toreador squad will be well-balanced in both the line and backfield and will have a fine football spirit.

THE CARMEL PINE CONE-CYMBAL

In the B division of the CCAL, it will be "beat Hollister and pick up the chips." The Haybalers, 1950 champions, have one of the finest prep teams in Northern California returning for duty this season. Paced by the finest quarterback in this area, Adolph Hartmann, Hollister is three deep in all positions and adheres strictly to the platoon system. An all-veteran line will test the offensive power of any prep eleven. The upstart of the B division could well be the King City Mustangs who have the finest fullback in either league at their disposal. A big rugged line in front of fullback Harris could make life unpleasant for all the Mustang opponents this season. Gilroy, a newcomer to the CCAL this season, will be one of the most interesting teams to watch. Coached by Johnny Golden, former Philadelphia Eagle player, the Gilroy eleven goes in for wide open football and have an assortment of extremely clever running and passing patterns. Golden's crew will be the darkhorse of the league and it would surprise none of the Gilroy fans if the blue and whites should come home with the bacon.

Gonzales High, always equipped with plenty of rugged kids, will upset some of the good ones before the season is finished. Two hard-hitting backs, Lopez and Gonzales, give the Spartans plenty of ball-carrying tools to dent the enemy's goal line. Coach Schmalenberger, a new hand at Pacific Grove, greeted a sixty-five man squad on his first day of football at the Breaker institution and predicts that the material on hand is tailor made for the California system. With a fullback of John Lewis' caliber, any system would appear loaded with power. This big negro lad can move the leather with the best of the preps and could carry the Breakers to the flag. The question mark of the league will be the Carmel Padres where unknown and untried hands will man the red and gray machine. An All-League halfback, Bob Updike, is the core of the Padre attack for the 1951 season. A pair of veteran backs, Henry Overin and Stewart Emery, give the Padres a good air arm as both boys are better than average high school passers.

From all indications the quality of high school football will be better than at any time since 1940 and John Q Fan will be in for his share of thrills during the coming season. All the teams are evenly matched and there are no soft touches in either league.

CARMEL GRIDDERS ON MPC SQUAD

A half-dozen former greats of Carmel High School are making a strong bid for positions on the Monterey Peninsula College varsity this season. Vying for guard spots are Bill Daniels, 1950 All-CCAL guard, and Pete Berg, member of the undefeated 1949 Padre varsity. Dick Weer, a regular on last year's Lobo squad, is back for another year of end play. Rated one of the finest defensive ends in the league, the fiery ex-Padre is expected to play both offense and defense this season. Trying for halfback spots will be Dick Garciulo and Bob Weer, a pair of fast-stepping ball toters. This will be Bob's second year at the Lobo institution while Garciulo is a transfer from Stanford. Running Jim Tidwell's T formation from the quarterback spot will be Jim Hare, All-League quarterback on the 1949 Padre varsity. Rated one of the finest passers in high school football, the versatile Jim will have a chance to demonstrate his skill in junior college circles this season.

Work Starts Immediately To Rebuild Golden Bough; Theatre In The Round Play Scheduled For Thanksgiving

Formal approval last Friday by the Carmel Planning Commission of the plans for the new Carmel Playhouse removed the last of several obstacles to the construction of the new theatre. The action of the Planning Commission followed the decision made earlier in the week by the City Council not to disturb the existing theatre zoning at the Playhouse site. Bids for the building of the theatre have been requested and the Playhouse organization expected to open bids from contractors late yesterday afternoon.

In connection with the plans for the new Playhouse, Edward G. Kuster pointed out that two types of staging for plays will be employed in the new theatre. The first of these will be introduced even before the main theatre edifice is completed. This will be central staging, otherwise known as the theatre-in-the-round technique. Since the foundation and the under-stage area will be used in the rehearsal first, the circular theatre technique will be used in the rehearsal hall, or Green Room, which will be located in the below-stage area. It is expected that the first theatre-in-the-round production will be given in the Green Room at about Thanksgiving time—long before the main auditorium of the theatre will be completed. Scheduled for presentation in this intimate-theatre series in the Green Room will be Sidney Kingsley's Detective Story, and Hendrik Ibsen's Enemy of the People.

When the main auditorium of the Playhouse is ready for use, theatre-in-the-round technique will also be employed there for productions lending themselves to this technique. However, for most plays, the standard proscenium-type of staging will be used. When theatre-in-the-round staging is used, however, the audience will be limited to about 100 people and they will be seated on the stage. When plays are not being presented, films of distinction will be shown in the Playhouse. The latest in motion picture projection equipment has already been procured for installation in the theatre when it is completed. This is the same type of equipment which is being currently used in New York's famed Radio City Music Hall.

Referring again to the theatre-in-the-round technique, Edward Kuster said, "It is interesting to note that central staging, the oldest and yet suddenly the newest theatrical device now, was in use here in Carmel 25 years ago. In the original Golden Bough Theatre here in Carmel," he added, "we designed and incorporated a large peninsula-like fore-stage extending far out into the auditorium, which provided essentially the same intimate seating which the present circular theatre features."

Principals To "Pour" At P.T.A. Meeting

The Carmel Parent Teachers Association will hold its meeting of the new year on Tuesday, September 11, at 3:30 o'clock in the cafeteria of Sunset School. Officers will be presented, new teachers introduced and the year's plans outlined. A series of three-minute talks explaining the purpose and functioning of the PTA will open the orientation program.

Tea will be served before the meeting, from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock, and as an innovation, school principals, Arthur Hull and Stuart Mitchell, will pour.

Forrest Barnes To Direct Steinbeck's "Of Mice And Men"

Of Mice and Men, the play John Steinbeck wrote about our own section of the country, already a classic of its kind throughout the world and hailed by many as the finest modern tragedy of all, opens next Thursday at the Wharf Theatre. Forrest Barnes, who directed Lysistrata, Apple of His Eye, and recently, Two Blind Mice, has been working with an excellent cast of people for the past several weeks in an effort to give to Peninsula theatre-goers something to remember always.

In the tragic role of Lennie is one of the Peninsula's most popular actors, Bruce Ariss. For him it is the answer to a dream of many years, as he has felt that the part of Lennie is his part. Rehearsals indicate that he certainly knows the character well. Another dreamer who has been wanting to play the part for years is Allen Greif, who as George, brings a very effective portrayal to the stage. Completing the cast are Esther Fleharty as Curley's Wife; Stuart Harwood as Curley; Willard Branson as Carlson; Dick Kohn as Slim; Ralph Tewes as Whit; Jack McDonough as Candy; and Le Grande Dix as The Boss.

This being a four set show is the most ambitious, scenically, which the Wharf Theatre has presented to date.

To The Editor

(Continued from Page One) has been extremely cooperative, and in other civic matters I have supported their action. I disagree most thoroughly in the matter of sales tax and budget.

The City of Carmel is limited by law to a tax rate of $1.00 per $100 assessed valuation on property, with revenue supplemented by business licenses, franchise, etc. I believe the City Council has at least a moral obligation, if not a legal one, to keep expenses within those limitations and that no new methods of taxation should be adopted without full and complete discussions, and by vote of the people.

With approximately one quarter of our income now going for taxes, and the promise of a bigger bite next year, particularly an 11½% income tax and a one cent sales tax increase, a line must be drawn, and soon. If it is not possible, in a town this size, to economize and balance a budget with existing revenue, what chance have we on a national scale? When the City Council voted to end rent control, a remark was made by one of the council members to the effect that we were tired of government control. I submit that the sales and use tax is as much government control, and as obnoxious to many people, as rent control, and that it is not necessary.

From time to time, during the past few years, I have given my time and energy to matters of public interest. There has been no thought of personal reward, only the hope that in some small way, by my small efforts, this might be a pleasanter place in which to live. It is in that spirit that I approach this present problem.

Mrs. Dorothy Olive Bingaman long illness. A resident of Carmel for almost two decades, Mrs. Bingaman was the widow of the late Dr. Bingaman.

Mrs. Bingaman was a member of only one organization, the Carmel Women's Club, but her friends were unnumbered and will always remember the quiet generosity with which she shared her beautiful home and garden. In other gardens all over Carmel are plants and flowers given by Mrs. Bingaman so that the beauty she wrought with loving care is spread far and wide.

A year ago Mrs. Bingaman took her first trip East, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Paul McKinstry, and saw with the kind of wide-open excited eyes that bring joy to every companion each flower and leaf from New England to Virginia.

Mrs. Bingaman is survived by two step-sons, Dr. Dixie Bingaman and Benjamin Bingaman of Salinas; four sisters, Mrs. Burgess Bean of Rapid City, South Dakota, Mrs. Ruth Cleves of Honolulu, Mrs. Frances Bougle of Clarksburg, and Mrs. Helen Armstrong of Los Gatos; a brother, Wallace Hamaugh; and a grandson, Benjamin Bingaman, Jr.

Mr. Payne was born in the little farming community of Blanco, near Salinas, and attended the country school there. In 1904 he came to Carmel and remained here until 14 years ago when he and his wife, Lena, moved to the Valley to establish a small nursery.

During his years in the Village, Mr. Payne, in addition to serving as postmaster for a period of years, was a carpenter, cabinet-maker and operator of a fix-it shop. His friends and former customers still speak of the high quality of his work.

New Actors' Group To Present "Bard" In Theatre-in-the-Round

The audience will be limited to one hundred at each performance.

Editorials...

(Continued from page One) far do you think a housewife would get if she just stood and watched while she irrigated her garden? She turns on the hose and then peels the potatoes, moves the hose, dusts the living room, moves the hose, puts in a grocery order . . .

"Why don't they plant native shrubs such as manzanita and wild lilac, and then they wouldn't have to water them at all?" we suggested. And why not? Native shrubs would not only require a minimum of care, but they'd look natural. Geraniums under pines look about as right to us as a horse in a wedding veil.

POINT LOBOS RESERVEWOOLLY ASTER, CORETHROGYNE, FILAGINIFOLIA

Though the asters are now blooming throughout the Reserve, few people have noticed them, for there has not been much comment on the flower. Even if it is not a conspicuous wildflower, which attracts attention by large masses of blossoms, we find woolly aster to be quite pretty. Against the green background of other members of the chaparral, our aster shows pink or light purple rays encircling a yellow center. The almost silvery grey of its foliage contrasts vividly among the greens.

The leaves are small and like the rest of the plant are covered with soft, white hairs which are designed to give protection against the drying effect of late summer days. In Point Lobos this aster is a low-growing, sprawling plant, for the most part spreading prostrate upon the ground. It can be found by the trails practically anywhere that the average visitor goes.

Another aster, but of a different genus will be mentioned soon. Woolly aster is new to me, for I can't recall having seen it in my wanderings before coming to Point Lobos. The range is from southern California all along the coast to Oregon, on bare and rocky ledges below an altitude of 5,000 feet.

Betcha Didn't Know This

That Daisy Bostick once owned a piece of a Zeppelin, not just a plain, old, ordinary Zeppelin, but a precursor. Perry Newberry, who also had an interest in the same airship, recounted the epic of its trial flights in the September 6, 1929, issue of the Pine Cone.

"There are several people living in Carmel to whom the thrill of the passing of the Graf Zeppelin at sea, beyond our headlands, recalled another, and more intensive thrill of twenty-five years ago. That, too, was caused by a dirigible, and stockholders in it, or associated with its affairs, were Daisy Bostick and ourselves, the Newberrys.

"J. O. Brubaker, who has often appeared in these columns as Bru, artist and poster designer of New York, was in 1904 living in San Francisco with us on Telegraph Hill. Somehow he had become the friend of Dr. August Greth, who had invented an airship. Bru became secretary of the airship company, formed to build the craft. I looked after its publicity. Daisy Bostick—then Daisy Fox of San Jose—bought stock in the company. So did Mrs. Newberry—one share.

"The dirigible was built in the old baseball grounds at Market and Eleventh streets. It was very similar in design to the present day Zeppelin, cigar-shaped, the car underneath. It had four propellers, two in front, two at rear, on universal joints, so they could lift as well as push the balloon along, and also serve for steering. I am still wondering if that idea of propellers on universal joints isn't a darn good one.

"The airship's engine was out of a foreign high-powered automobile, and the very best of that date, when even automobiles were infants. It must have had eighty horsepower. It needed all of it to revolve those four propellers.

"Dr. Greth called his dirigible the California Eagle. It had taken all he had in the world to build it, and most of his friends were up to their necks beside him. Into its trial flight went all our hopes of riches and luxurious future existence.

"Trial flights had been held with the gasbag at the end of a rope, and the propellers worked nicely, helping to lift and serving to give it progress through the air. At the end of a rope, the California Eagle steered. Or it seemed to steer. We were jubilant about the machine, and set a date for its first free flight.

"Set a date, and also, unfortunately, set a course for it to follow; to Oakland and return, with a three-time circling of the Call building at Third and Market streets as a side-jaunt. We need not have been so particular. In those days, any flight in the air was unusual enough to attract wide attention, but we were all confident of the Eagle's abilities to carry out any program we set for it, and we were enthusiastic—and young.

"The morning of May 2, 1904 found Bru, and me early on the lot, back of the high board fence, helping Dr. Greth and his workmen in the last minute preparations. The gas bag had been inflated during the night, and now floated with its car—a wicker balloon basket—just free of the ground, held by many sand bags strung along its frame. The engine was tried and roared lustily; the controls were tested; the propellers given a few whirs to find them all working perfectly.

"Only a few people besides the mechanics and newspaper reporters, were allowed inside the lot. Dr. Greth himself would guide the ship, and no passengers were even considered. When the sandbags were all cut away, the best the machine could do would be to lift its inventor.

"Finally all was clear, propellers were turned down and started, and the flight was on. Up went Dr. Greth, waving his hat to our cheers. From the street, thickly crowded with people, came a wild shout of encouragement as the gas-

A cradle-cup for spider eggs, a pocket-full of seed.*

Where masted redwoods loosen yellowed frond-leaves,

Where broom-pods pop wide open, up on Huckleberry Farm.*

*Come, gather in the purple berries born of soil, sun, rain,

Of green fern-footed peace, that walks on Huckleberry Farm.*

The action is stiletto-fast,
Timed to the trade;
No slow blossoming of light

No slid petals of sound
No soft chisel of faith
The marble is forced into flesh . . .
The stone mouth mocks
At an Athenian world;
The fabled fingers tear

The cricket trills all night.*

*No breath stirr'd, the trees are at rest, bag came into view above the fence. It was our glorious moment.

"Short-lived, however. The wind blew from the north east or all stiff breeze. The California Eagle, having mounted above the building tops, should have swung her prow to the east, and gracefully made toward the Call building. Instead it went southward on the wind. Propellers revolved, and it was plain to us who understood the theory of the craft, that they were turned to give it an eastward course. But did it go east? It did not.

"Never nearer the Call building than when it started; never nearer Oakland than when it took off, the Greth airship went with the wind across the peninsula to the Potrero, across the bay to San Bruno, then as the wind shifted more to the east, followed along the San Bruno road to Blanken's Six-Mile House. There Dr. Greth decided to come down, pulled the tipping cord, let out gas, and made a very neat landing. He probably drowned his sorrows at Blanken's Six-Mile House; I remember that it was a good place to drown sorrow in those days.

"From the roof of a high building, Bru and I had watched the flight, and our hearts had been lead. Propellers spinning, working to steer the aircraft, the wind had carried it where it listed, and the inventor went only as the breeze blew. It was a balloon, and nothing more than a balloon. We had the telephone from Dr. Greth telling of his landing with only the slight relief of his safety, for the gas was out of the bag, and there was no money in the treasury even to replace it. The jig was up. After this failure, in the face of the world, nobody would ever again buy stock in the California Eagle.

"So we thought until we saw the newspapers next morning. A few days ago the Examiner reprinted the front page of its issue of May 3, 1904, under the caption, 'Zeppelin's Forerunner—25 years ago.' Across the top of the paper was a 'Picture Diagram of the Flight of Dr. Greth's Air-ship from Eleventh and Market Streets to the Union Iron Works, and Thence Over an Arm of the Bay to the Six-Mile House.' Nothing in the story to say what the gas-bag had intended to do, but enthusiasm for what it did do. Optimism in every line of the tale.

"Here are some excerpts: 'At Blanken's Six-Mile House, on account of a defect in the running gear, it was found necessary to bring the ship to the ground. Doctor Greth not only made his course at will, but completed three short circles at an altitude of about 400 feet. He had intended sailing to San Jose, but the breakdown of the machinery prevented this.'

"The California Eagle went very rapidly, about 25 miles an hour, but, with the improvements I intend to make in my motive power the ship will go along like a fast express train. I mean just what I say," declared Doctor Greth. "I'll sail anywhere at any time," he added.

"Dr. Greth told the Examiner reporter that with his airship he hoped to defend the ports of the United States against invading fleets, fly over the North Pole, and build airships for passengers and freight purposes."

"Both the Chronicle and the Call were only a little less enthusiastic than the Monarch of the Dailies, and it became apparent to Bru and me that our depression and heart sickness had been premature. What we had considered a miserable failure, the Associated Press was hailing to an entire world as a success. And when the Scientific American came out with its front page entirely given up to pictures of the aircraft and its trail flight, we were already at work rebuilding the machinery, and selling stock to buy gas for the bag.

"That was when Daisy Bostick bought her $200 worth of handsomely printed stock certificates. It was her first venture in speculative finance, and she had visions of retiring from the teaching profession upon her profits. A specially built engine, costing a fortune, was going to drive the California Eagle through the air to (Continued on Page 8)

SECTION 8. PERSONS LIABLE TO TAX. Every person using or otherwise consuming in this City tangible personal property purchased from a retailer, is liable for the tax; provided, however, no tax shall be due hereunder if the tax imposed by Ordinance No. 129 N. SECTION 11. PERSONAL PROPERTY TO WHICH TAX APPLIES. Except as otherwise specifically exempted, the tax hereby imposed applies to all tangible personal property located in this City and purchased from a retailer; provided, however, that if the retailer in good faith takes from the purchaser a certificate that the property was purchased prior to the effective date of this ordinance or was not purchased for use or consumption in this City and has not been nor will be so used or consumed, he shall be relieved of liability to collect and pay the tax. The certificate shall be signed by and bear the name of the purchaser, shall indicate the address of the purchaser and the place where such tangible personal property will be used or consumed, the date of purchase, and shall be substantially in such form as the City Tax Collector may prescribe.

SECTION 12. EXEMPTIONS. In addition to those exemptions contained in Part 1 of Division 2 of the California Revenue and Taxation Code which are incorporated into this ordinance by reference, there shall be excluded from the computation of the tax the sales price of:

(a) Purchases made by the State of California or by any agency, department, political subdivision, district or municipal corporation thereof;

(b) Purchases of tangible personal property to be used in connection with the erection, construction, repair or alteration of either public works or buildings belonging to or being constructed by or on behalf of or for the use of the United States Government, the State of California or any agency, department, political subdivision district or public or municipal corporation of the State;

(c) Purchases made pursuant to contracts actually executed in good faith prior to October 1, 1951;

(d) Purchases of property upon which a sales tax, purchase tax, use tax, purchase and use tax, or any of them, has been legally imposed by and paid on the same transaction to any city of the State of California.

SECTION 13. REGISTRATION OF RETAILERS. Every retailer selling tangible personal property for use or other consumption in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea and which retailer maintains a place of business in said city or acts through agents located in said city and which retailer is not licensed under the provisions of Ordinance No. 129 N. SECTION 14. DUE DATE OF TAXES. Taxes imposed by this ordinance are due and payable to the City Tax Collector on or before the last day of the month next succeeding each quarterly period, the first quarterly payment to be due and payable under this ordinance on or before the last day of January, 1952. The City Tax Collector may require returns and payment of the amount of taxes for quarterly periods other than calendar quarters depending upon the principal place of or the nature of the business of the seller or retailer or may require returns and payment of the amount of taxes for other than quarterly periods.

SECTION 15. RETURNS. Each return filed by a retailer shall show the total sale price of the property sold by him during the reporting period in respect of which he collected the tax hereby imposed. Each return filed by a purchaser shall show the total sale price of the property purchased by him during the reporting period, in respect of which a tax is due under this ordinance. All returns shall also show the amount of the taxes for the period covered by the return and such other information as the City Tax Collector deems necessary to the proper administration of this ordinance.

SECTION 16. SCHEDULES FOR PAYMENT OF TAX. The Council, by resolution, shall adopt rules prescribing methods and schedules for the collection and payment of the tax. Such schedules shall be so determined as to facilitate collection of this tax at the same time that the retailer collects the tax imposed under the California Sales and Use Tax Law and so as to produce an average tax return of one-half of one percent ($\frac{1}{2}$ of 1%) on all purchases subject to the use tax.

SECTION 17. SUIT FOR TAX. All taxes hereby levied shall be payable to the City Tax Collector and any civil suit for the collection thereof may be filed in any court of competent jurisdiction in the State of California, and the City Attorney of said City shall prosecute the action.

SECTION 18. RESALE CERTIFICATE. The City Tax Collector may at his option accept a State of California Resale Certificate as evidence that any sale is not a sale for use or consumption in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, or he may in his discretion require an affidavit from the seller setting forth such information respecting such sale as he deems necessary to determine the nature of such sale.

SECTION 19. DISPOSITION OF PROCEEDS. All monies collected under and pursuant to the provisions of this ordinance shall be deposited and paid into the General Fund of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

SECTION 20. DIVULGING OF INFORMATION FORBIDDEN. No officer or employee of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea having an administrative duty under this ordinance shall make known in any manner whatever the business affairs, operations, or information obtained by an investigation of records and equipment of any retailer or any other person visited or examined in the discharge of official duty or the amount or source of income, profits, losses, expenditures, or any particular thereof, set forth or disclosed in any return, or permit any return or copy thereof or any book containing any abstract or particulars thereof to be seen or examined by any person. However, the Council may, by resolution, authorize examination of the returns by Federal or State officers or employees or by the tax officers of this or any other city if a reciprocal arrangement exists. Successors, receivers, trustees, executors, administrators, assignees, and guarantors, if directly interested, may be given information as to the items included in the measure and amounts of any unpaid tax or amounts of tax required to be collected, interest and penalties.

SECTION 21. FALSE AND FRAUDULENT RETURNS. No person required to make, render, sign or verify any report under the provisions of this ordinance, shall make any false or fraudulent return, with intent to defeat or evade the determination of an amount due and required to be paid hereunder.

SECTION 22. FAILURE TO MAKE RETURN OR FURNISH DATA. No retailer or other person shall fail or refuse to furnish any return required to be made or fail or refuse to furnish a supplemental return or other data required by the City Tax Collector, or render a false or fraudulent return.

SECTION 23. PENAL PROVISIONS. Any person violating any provision of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than Three Hundred Dollars ($300.00), or by imprisonment in the City Jail of the City of Monterey or the County Jail of the County of Monterey for a period of not more than ninety (90) days or by both such fine and such imprisonment.

SECTION 24. VALIDITY. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase, or portion of this ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid or unconstitutional by the decision of any court of competent jurisdiction, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The Council of this City hereby declares that it would have adopted this ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase, or portion thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sub-sections, sentences, clauses, phrases or portions be declared invalid or unconstitutional.

SECTION 25. THIS ORDINANCE, inasmuch as it provides for a tax levy for the usual current expenses of the City, shall take effect and be in force on and after October 1, 1951.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO CIRCULATE AN INITIATIVE

THE IMMEDIATE SUBMISSION TO THE REGISTERED VOTERS OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, FOR PASSAGE OR REJECTION OF AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING THAT NO CITY SALES OR USE TAX SHALL BE ASSESSED, IMPOSED OR COLLECTED BY THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA UPON ANY RETAIL SALES TRANSACTIONS WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, CALIFORNIA.

STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR SUPPORTING THE PROPOSED PETITION

We the undersigned registered voters of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea request that an ordinance prohibiting the imposition of a city sales or use tax, and repealing conflicting ordinances, be submitted to the voters of Carmel at a special election held pursuant to the provisions of the Political Code of the State of California, for the following reasons:

1. We believe that the Sales and Use Tax, as adopted, is against the interests of the people of Carmel, in that it will most affect the people of limited means, upon whom the tax will add proportionately the greatest increase in their cost of living.

2. The Sales and Use Tax will impose an additional burden upon the business man for bookkeeping and collection, which must be absorbed, according to OPS regulations, by the retailer. This tax will be an additional hardship to those selling, or buying, items already subject to Federal Excise Taxes, which in some cases amount to 20% or 25%.

3. We believe that in adopting the present Sales and Use Tax measures the City Council of Carmel-by-the-Sea has avoided its duties in the matters of economy and budget control, seeking instead the adoption of a Sales and Use Tax which appeared harmless because it is by nature a hidden tax extracted in small sums in a relatively painless manner.

4. We believe that the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea should adhere to a rigidly honest policy of economy and budget control within the framework of its adopted charter. We do not believe that the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea should enter into agreements with other communities for the adoption of any joint taxation methods, especially when based on contingent and speculative financial needs.

5. We believe, therefore, that the Sales and Use Tax measures now in effect should be repealed without delay, and request that the ordinance for such repeal which accompanies this petition should be placed before the people for their decision at a special election without delay.

Carmel is a gift shopper's paradise, and for the many fascinating packages one acquires in the course of a day, THE PAPER BAG, in the Golden Bough Court, has a unique gift wrapping service. Charming ribbon bows, decorated with flowers, pine cones et al and exquisite taffeta foil papers, created by Helen Cole, are used to make your gifts look like treasures. Note, too, the witty and original greeting cards, so well printed that they seem hand painted, and the stacks of gay cocktail and barbecue napkins at THE PAPER BAG.

If you have a coat in mind, MAXINE'S, your guide to fashion, on Dolores Street, has a magnificent collection, rivalling that of any major department store. MAXINE'S is famous for coats, their imported and domestic tweeds alone are an important fashion story. A John Barr plaid, imported from Scotland, and colored in the subtle tints of Scottish heather, pinks, lavenders and moss green, is fur finished and soft as down. Cut full, with gently rounded shoulders, this coat is ideally suited for the Carmel landscape. Linton tweed, another of MAXINE'S imports, makes a coat with a dramatic flare, deep cuffs, and a cape collar. The starkly simple plaid is copper on a midnight blue ground. This year, more than ever, tweed is the very height of fashion, and the more textured, the better. A wonderful purple coat, in Forstman's poodle cloth, is as timely as next month's Vogue. A grey coat, to wear with black, other greys, and the most brilliant colors, is charcoal grey checked tweed by Town Craft, one of America's top coat makers. This is a glimpse of the coats that usher in the fall season at MAXINE'S.

A necklace like a silver bird in flight, a necklace like a spider's web. A necklace which might have been worn by a dancing girl on the banks of the Nile, another as delicate as lace. These are some of the new designs by Gilbert Schoenbrod, at THE SILVER STUDIO. To be executed in silver or gold, with semi-precious stones, these designs are far from simple. They are intended for the person who enjoys wearing jewelry which is valued for its workmanship as well as the metals used. The necklaces, and the matching pins, earrings, and pendants will be made to order, at THE SILVER STUDIO, in The Court of the Golden Bough.

THE GREEN THUMB, at 581 Hartnell Street, near the Monterey postoffice, has a delightful service for indoor gardeners. used, and THE GREEN THUMB has planting boxes as well as hanging baskets of redwood and rattan. Giant philodendrons, their glossy leaves several feet across, are on sale at $15.00, a very special price for these fabulous plants, at THE GREEN THUMB.

HARRIET DUNCAN presents a graduate from the schoolroom. The plaid skirt, falling in full unpressed pleats, cut with authority and far too smart to be anything but grown up. The plaid is in shades of copper, lavender, or sulphur yellow, and black, and there are blouses with French cuffs and pin tucks which are dyed exactly to match the skirt colors. Another adaptation from the very young is the golf shirt, in hand stitched flannel. The waist is elastic, the back cut very full from a deep yoke. In daffodil yellow, delft blue, and pimento red, this is a good sports jacket and equally good worn as a blouse, perhaps with two contrasting scarves. With it, HARRIET DUNCAN shows a slender skirt of English worsted flannel.

At THE VILLAGE BOOK SHOP, on Ocean Avenue, the outstanding books of modern verse and prose include W. H. Auden's collected poems of the past four years, cryptically called Nones. This should be of interest to the brilliant poet's many admirers. All the plays of Christopher Fry are on hand, A Phoenix Too Frequent, Venus Observed, The Boy with a Cart, and The Lady's Not For Burning. The fourth book of poems by John Malcolm Brinnin, The Sorrows of Cold Stone, is illustrated with wash drawings by Theodoros Stamos, which reflect, strangely and sweetly, the cadences of the verses without in any way representing them. Rilke's Letters to a Young Poet, addressed to a correspondent whom he had never seen and yet felt very close to—"I am touched by your beautiful concern about life" and the several volumes of his poetry, translated by Jessie Lammont and by C. F. MacIntyre, are thrilling literary experiences for any young person. Atlantic Cantata, a new long poem by Hugh Chisholm, presently of Big Sur, has aroused much comment. These are a few of the books of special interest at THE VILLAGE BOOK SHOP.

For those who tire of ordinary things and have grown to prefer the exotic, O'KEEFFE'S, on Dolores Street, have discovered a designer named Ruth Bach who makes jewelry of copper, leather and enamels, which is quite unlike anything else I've seen. A necklace of large flat discs, enamelled a strange, dark and lustrous blue, must have been inspired by those worn by figures in an Egyptian wall painting. A white pendant is marked with brilliant hieroglyphics which seem to be some as yet undiscovered language. This motif recurs again and again in different ways in the earrings, pins and pendants, which are sometimes geometric in shape and sometimes irregular, like stones formed by the sea. The colors are wonderful and seem as various as the nuances of precious stones. Instead of chains, the discs are strung on thin bands of leather which add to the effect of souvenirs from a distant civilization. The pieces are priced from $2.00 for a small pin to $25.00 for a set. You'll find them only at O'KEEFFE'S.

The turtleneck sweater has swept America. Before they were available in the shops you saw them worn by models in New York, Paris and Florence. The star of Veneziani's new collection is a turtleneck sweater. With matching skirts they become dresses, with any skirt they are indispensable. One of the first to have turtleneck sweaters is HOLMAN'S sports shop, on the second floor. A white lambswool, with dolman sleeves is $7.95. It also comes in a very deep green. Sleeveless baby turtleneck sweaters, in navy, green and red, are $4.95. Tissue-

Carmel Lions, forty strong at Tuesday night's dinner meeting at the Mission Ranch, wouldn't settle for the Life of Marco Polo, fascinating though it was as recounted by Dr. Henry Hart, who has written the most authoritative and interesting book published on the subject. Knowing him to be an expert on modern China as well as on the life and times of Marco Polo, they demanded his opinion on contemporary political conditions in the Orient and his talk was followed by a lively question period.

Golf Tsar Dr. William Coughlin announced that he himself had won first prize at last Sunday's Lions Tournament, awarded second place to Fred Hollenbeck, and third to August Nieto.

Out of town guest was Dale Thompson of Kansas City who is on his way to the Bankers Convention in San Francisco which starts September 9.

Credit for capturing Dr. Hart for speaker goes to Al Fry whose turn it was to arrange the program for the evening.

make us all rich as so many Midas.

"Came the day of the second trial. We had engaged Captain Baldwin, a famous balloonist, to guide the Eagle's destinies. Also, we had laid out a schedule of flight for him in the newspapers that took into account the prevailing winds. But neither professional pilot nor Nature worked with us that day. The wind had got around into the north during the night, and blew half a gale, although the day was bright and clear.

"Dr. Greth and most of us argued for a postponement of the trial, but Captain Baldwin had made balloon flights in worse winds, and was certain of himself. We let him convince us, and up and away, away forever, soared our hopes.

"The California Eagle landed in the Santa Lucias some twenty miles below Big Sur. Captain Baldwin was uninjured, and hiked back to Pfleiffer's. Again the ship of the air had merely drifted on the wind, but in its landing, it had wrecked completely, and in a place where it could not be salvaged. Which was the end of Dr. Greth's experiments, of Daisy Bostick's financial dreams, and of my connection with aeronautics."

"As all Carmel knows, Daisy Bostick had subsequent dreams that paid off realistically; and Perry Newberry moved on from aeronautics to journalism in which field his name became legendary."

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

It is time to think of the bulb should drive you crazy with their brilliant color and promises of perfection. But just buying new bulbs does not assure success. Each variety asks for different handling and different planting. No bulb wants to be planted in a bed that has been freshly manured. The time to prepare your beds is right now, before the winter rains. The general rule for planting is to place the bulb into the earth to a depth three times the thickness of the bulb.

If you are going in for tulips, you better buy them right now, then place the tulips in the refrigerator for several weeks. One of the most familiar complaints of amateur tulip growers is that their plants lack long, wiry stems. The flowers seem to open a few inches above the surface of the ground. Stunted stems result not only from too early planting but also because the bulbs are set at the wrong planting level. The average tulip bulb is about two inches in diameter; plant the bulb six inches beneath the ground level.

Preparation for bulb beds is necessary, which means to dig deep and soften the earth where the root system must penetrate. Tulips should be planted, in this locality, in late October and early November. A handful of coarse sand laid in the bottom of the hole will insure proper drainage, and without drainage no bulb will be grateful enough to mature properly. Tulips especially, sulk and sulk and refuse to turn in a proper performance.

The Daffodil is a willing bloom-

er. Less care may be expended on daffodils than on any other variety of bulb. Place the daffodil into the ground to the depth of three times its own diameter, and you are set for life. I have daffodils that come to life each Spring that were planted seven years ago, and they still give an excellent performance. At this time of year, I have the surface of the plot scraped of all weeds, then the soil is raked to about two inches deep. Manure is then applied to the surface of the ground and chopped in. That is all, and come Spring: Then my heart with pleasure fills, and dances with the daffodils."

Anemones and ranunculus like this locality. The bulbs are crazy looking things and unless you are very careful you may place them in the ground up-side-down. The anemone bulb looks like a hard piece of basalt of volcanic origin, and gives no evidence of a growing thing. One tiny point indicates the root-in-embryo, and this tiny point goes into the ground first. Ranunculus bulbs look like claws of some sort. The claws go downward into the earth, and remember, place both of these bulbs into the earth about three times the bulb's own thickness.

Screen both varieties when they show green, for there is no tid-bit known to the bird world that compares with newly sprouted anemones and ranunculus. After the bird menace is over, thrip walks in, and unless plants are sprayed with nicotine, you won't have any flowers.

All varieties of iris do well here. There are so many new hybrids that one can plant a jewelled landscape for only a few dollars. Iris is inexpensive and generally cost about one dollar a dozen, and iris too, may be left in the ground for many years to come.

Sierra Club Climbs Ventana Double Cone

By Fremont Ballou

Monterey Peninsula, Los Gatos, and San Francisco Bay areas gathered on the Grimes ranch at the mouth of Palo Colorado Canyon last Saturday morning for a trip into the Ventana Wild Area of the Los Padres National Forest.

The trip, sponsored by the Loma Prieta Chapter of the Sierra Club, was under the able leadership of Mr. Frank B. Duveneck of Los Altos, assisted by his son, Francis Duveneck of Monterey, Carl Steinmann, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wardlaw, who did a splendid job of packing in the supplies and providing the hungry hikers with nourishment, not to mention the skillful jeep driver, Mr. Tom Turner of Monterey, who had to handle his car over difficult terrain. Others participating in the trip were Jane Tucker, the chapter's efficient Walks and Trails chairman, Harriet Coe, Sylvia Lever, Paul Lever, Katherine Beaton Ward, formerly of Carmel, Warren Lemmon, Dr. E. Friedlander, Dr. Robert D. Bullock and from Carmel, Wilma Cook, Jessica Gilby and Fremont Ballou.

The first day was occupied by the trip to the base camp at Pat Spring in the Big Pines at an elevation of 4000 feet, about fourteen miles from the coast highway, by road and trail, over which supplies had to be packed by jeep and on three horses. On Sunday the group walked the sixteen-mile round trip over to the Ventana Lookout perched on the lofty top of rugged Ventana Double Cone, 4833 feet above sea level. The last part of this trip was along a jagged, rocky ridge covered with gnarled Coulter pines and the rare Santa Lucia fir, found only in this range. The hot, thirsty hikers were hospitably received by the residents, Hashberger, who supplied them with water and information, while they registered, ate lunch, rested and enjoyed the fine view. This is one of the most isolated lookout stations in this area, so that few visitors come there, the last one, Carol Card, having made the trip three weeks previously. Monday was occupied with breaking camp and returning home.

Good weather added to the efforts of those who organized the trip, made it a great success and one which was enjoyed by all. About 36 miles were covered on foot during the three days.

Jennefer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd of the Highlands. She attended Carmel High School and has for the past two years been at Stanford where she met Nathaniel Baylis. The young couple will return to Palo Alto after their wedding trip so that Mr. Baylis can continue work on his master's degree in the Stanford Graduate School of Business. Jennefer, too, after a few months of settling into her new home, will continue her studies.

Attendants at the wedding ceremony will include Jennefer's sisters, brother and Stanford friends. Cynthia Carr of Carmel will be the maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Kathleen Leonard of Merced, Margot Sinton of San Francisco, and Jacqueline Miller of Portland, all of whom are school-mates of the bride and groom. Lucinda Lloyd will be the junior bridesmaid and seven-year-old Mardi Lloyd will be flower girl.

Nathaniel's best man, Edwin Vrieze of Ponteverde Beach, Florida, is also a student at Stanford as are the ushers, Anders Field of San Francisco, James Claypool of San Bernardino and Tad Hopkins of Palo Alto. The fourth usher will be the bride's brother, Skipper.

Valley Homes Tour

Upper Carmel Valley ranch homes of distinction will be open to visitors for the benefit of Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc. on Wednesday, September 12, from 11:00 o'clock in the morning until 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Among the homes will be the Double H Ranch home of Mrs. Henry Potter Russell; River Ranch, owned by Mr. and Mrs. S. F. B. Morse; Westerly, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Herman W. Fletcher; the Robert Stanton home which was designed by its owner; the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Seideneck, and the last two post-adobe houses built by the late Hugh Comstock, and owned by the William Wolfs and the Harold Grahams.

Patios, which combine indoor and outdoor living so delightfully, will be a feature of the tour. Mrs. Robert Stanton, associate editor of House Beautiful, will set her patio dining table for guests. In the George Seideneck home both the peasant kitchen and the owner's studio will be points of special interest.

Luncheon will be served both at the Rancho Del Monte and the Carmel Valley Country Club from noon throughout the afternoon, so that patrons of the tour may make their leisurely way up the Valley.

Co-chairmen of the tour are Miss Marion Kingsland and Mrs. Olney Girard. Tickets for the tour may be secured from the chairmen, from the Pine Inn, at the visited homes, or from the San Francisco office of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., 1458 Sutter Street.

Winslows Back

Mrs. Yvonne Winslow and her son, Garth, have returned from Berkeley to their home in the Carmel Highlands.

G.O.P. Women's Speaker

Mrs. Jean Fuller, president of the California Council of Republican Women, will be the guest of Col. and Mrs. Harry B. Gant at their home on Casanova Street. Mrs. Fuller will speak at a meeting in King City Monday and arrive in Carmel the same day. Tuesday at 2:00 o'clock she will speak here at the Carmel Women's Club and will greet friends at tea following the meeting. Further plans for Mrs. Fuller include a brunch gathering in Salinas at 10:00 o'clock on Wednesday.

Mrs. Edwards to Speak

Monterey Peninsula will hear Mrs. India Edwards, Vice President of the National Democratic Committee and director of the women's division of the Democratic party, speak at a luncheon at Casa Munras, September 11 at 12:30 o'clock. The Carmel Women's Club, United Democrats and the County Central Committee will act as hosts.

A special article about Mrs. Edwards appeared recently in the Saturday Evening Post, which gives her credit for the appointment of more women to top jobs in the government than have ever been made in any administration, including Mrs. Eugenie Anderson as Ambassador to Denmark. According to the article, it was Henry Ford who suggested to his publicity man that the Ford Motor Company encourage women in politics, hinting that nothing would come of it, of course.

That was the time Mr. Ford reckoned without India Edwards and she was soon rolling along the political highway as successfully as the cars Mr. Ford puts on the road.

Through the influence of Mrs. Edwards, President Truman has appointed five women as Federal Judges, the first woman as Assistant Secretary of Defense, the first woman Federal Communications Commissioner and the first woman Treasurer of the United States.

A group of members of The Democratic Club met at a luncheon at Casa Munras Hotel last Friday to make plans for the luncheon for Mrs. Edwards. Mrs. Florence Geisen, the new President, presided with Mrs. Paul Low, the Vice President. Party members were selected from towns on the Peninsula, to assist. They included Mrs. Talcott Bates for Monterey and Mrs. Margaret Mazzanovich of Pacific Grove.

Reservations may be made by telephoning 8-0178 or 7-7035 or by writing to P.O. Box Carmel 2315. Tickets $1.25.

When the stout, middle-aged Boston Terrier first arrived at the Shelter, I was not specially impressed. She had prominent eyes, a high pitched voice and she called everyone "dear." "Aren't you rather large for your breed?" I asked, while we exchanged the usual courtesies. "Not at all, dear," she replied. "I'm a medium. And very psychic. The name's Popowowski, but you'll kindly address me as Madame. I'm short-sighted," she added, to explain why she was peering around. "Physically, that is. Far-sighted, of course, on the Astral Plane."

At dinner she gulped her food as fast as I did. The first to finish, she cleared her throat and revealed that she was Greatly Gifted, had genuine Gypsy blood, and would be glad to read the paws of her fellow guests. Rightly though, she explained, eyeing the food pans, her own paw should first be crossed with a small piece of meat. She paused expectantly, but apparently no one had heard. "Never mind, then," she sighed,

"there are other methods. Will somebody kindly fetch me a crystal ball?" Rogie, Frank's Boxer, went to find one, but soon returned empty-pawed. "Monstrous!" Madame explained. "They call this a Humane Shelter and supply no equipment for the use of psychic guests!" What an air of authority, I thought. What fire in those goggle eyes! Irresistibly, I was falling under her spell. (My youth, no doubt, makes me peculiarly susceptible to mature ladies' charms.) With alacrity I fetched my one treasure and laid it at her feet. "It's not crystal," I apologized humbly, "but it is a ball." "A golf ball," she observed. "Well, it'll have to do. As a reward, Sappy dear, I'll tell your fortune first. Just be patient while I chew it over in silence for a moment."

Glowing with pride, I watched her look into my golf ball. Thanks to her gifts, the outer covering wasn't an obstacle for long. "Astounding!" she cried. "I see miles and miles of rubber. A journey, for sure! A lot of journeys, in fact. And all on rubber, which means you'll go by car. A fascinating life. But Ah! As it un-winds, I see it's full of entanglements . . . Dear, dear yes, All mixed up! If you don't watch out, I fear you'll end by going to pieces." "That's all you can tell me?" I gulped. "Pieces!" she repeated, stirring the golf ball's remains with a delicate paw, "and unrecognizable . . . Next please!"

Miss Bliss, a young spinster Spaniel, was next. But what she was told by Madame Popowowski must be kept till next week. So listen again, as they say, same time, same station.

PRIORITIES FOR PEACE
With special hymns, prayers and sermon, the 11:00 o'clock service at St. John's Chapel in Del Monte will emphasize world peace and international relations. With the representatives of some fifty nations in San Francisco considering the political and economic phases of universal brotherhood, the Rector of St. John's, the Rev. Bernard N. Lovgren will discuss the spiritual and Christian implications in his sermon, "Priorities for Peace."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him?"

This verse from the eighth Psalm is one of the Bible citations to be read in the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, September 9, on the subject "Man." Further reading from the Psalm will answer:

"Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet."

The correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will include the following passage:

"Man is not made to till the soil. His birthright is dominion, not subjection. He is lord of the belief in earth and heaven,—himself subordinate alone to his Maker. This is the Science of being" (p. 517).

Public Invited To Wednesday Evening Religious Concert

A fine evening of music is in store for the Peninsula on Wednesday evening when at 8:30 in All Saints' Church in Carmel, Dan Lenoir Hosack and Robert Forbes will present an hour and a half concert in which the story of Christ's life will be told in song.

Included in the program will be some of the most familiar as well as many little known compositions dealing with the themes of Christ's life. The music comes from the work of Handel and Bach and from lesser known composers such as Frances Alliston, an English composer of the last century, and the German composers Max Reger and Peter Cornelius. Several little known carols will be included in the program with more famous arias from the major works of both Handel and Bach.

The public is invited to attend the recital, for which there is no admission charge. At the conclusion of the program contributions to the Saint Luke's Hospital Fund will be gratefully accepted as the presentation of this program by All Saints' Church is part of a wide-spread drive by the Episcopal Church to raise funds for the support of Saint Luke's Hospital in San Francisco.

This Is It—Community Theatre At Its Best And Most Meaningful; Everybody Had A Stake In It

BY EVELYN BARNES

"This is It!" This is it!—community theater at its best and most meaningful. On three perfect evenings of a beautiful weekend the Forest Theater sold standing room only for one of the gayest happiest productions we're ever likely to see.

Four gifted college lads home on vacation wrote "This is It!" and fifty other talented young Carmel people joined them in creating this lively spontaneous show. Don Adams wrote the music, Ric Masten the lyrics, Mike Monahan and Owen Greenan the book. Almost constantly during the evening ripples of applause rose for each of them in turn.

"This is It!" is so fresh and exuberant and young that one caught one's breath now and then with delight, as when Mary McElroy scampered into her dance, or Kathi Lewis sang with clear sweetness, or the entire chorus joined Holt Wood in the choreographically original "Hula Girls".

The story is that boys have girls but they don't want them until they dream about them. This is a good story, just right for musical comedy. When it's Ruth McElroy, as Brenda Buzoom, slithering across the stage with comic sinuousness, who conducts the boys into their dreams, there's real flavour. And the dreams range from Paris to Tahiti.

The lyrics were charming and the music, particularly "Hunk o' Nothing" and "In the Rain" was heart-warming as well as catchy.

Since the entire proceeds of the production were given to the Committee for Prevention of Alcoholism, a note of seriousness is appropriate here. One of the finest things that could be done for the prevention of alcoholism and its companion, juvenile delinquency, is to gather the young people of Carmel into more ventures like "This is It!". To use even a part of their rich talent and energy in this joyous way benefits the whole community. And so does the use of the unique Forest Theater which contributes magic to any production; the sky, the pines, the drifting smoke of the great bon-fires are part of the heart of our village.

David Eldridge directed "This is It!" with imagination and skill. The dancers were trained to exciting precision.

In the cast are many of the pretty girls and good-looking boys we see on our streets and beaches and they sing and dance and act so well that we all partake of pride. And that's another way in which "This is It!" is real community theater — everyone has a stake in it.

Why Can't We Accept Ourselves As Philistines?

(Continued from Page One) those whose interest in music comes way down on the list of distractions, and who would choose first almost any social time-filler, such as cards, cocktails, or cinema — naturally prefer to risk their leisure on an artist, bought, paid-for, and labelled by Mr. Hurok as "the world's greatest," rather than subject their own judgment to the test of recognition.

In defense of the two hundred who did forego other commitments to attend this recent concert, I would like to record that their appreciation was so articulate that Gerhart Muench himself could have been left with no doubt of his gift to them.

Kay Rogers, Charcoal Portraiture instructor, invites all Junior Rembrandts to come try their hands at charcoal. For this class there is a live model, and after one becomes adept at charcoal pastels are employed. If you are an out-of-door lover and also desirous of learning how to put what you see on paper, the Sketching and Painting class, taught by Mr. Lee Randolph, will appeal to you. This meets every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon, and whenever the weather permits, field sketching trips are taken.

Many interesting projects for the home, from making a corner cupboard to re-finishing furniture, can be carried out in the Machine Woodworking class under the able direction of Mr. Ian Belangee. The Pottery class, as its name implies, takes up the making of objects from clay, the glazing and firing of them. Mr. Ernest Calley is the instructor.

For the mother who has a school child who wishes to further her child's social and physical development, there is the Carmel Parent Nursery School, under the direction of Mrs. Rosa Doner.

The popular folk dance teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Hall, are again offering a class in Beginning Folk Dancing which will hold its first meeting on Thursday, Sept. 13 at 8:00 p. m. in the High School Cafeteria.
